

Sirs:

I am very concerned that the consolidation of media ownership will fundamentally change the objectiveness of media coverage. First, it will allow mega-media giants to dominate the coverage and shape opinion without objective points of view. Second, it will allow foreign ownership such as Murdoch to unduly influence political issues. Finally, it will harm the democracy of the U.S. by giving advantage to chosen candidates of large corporations in elections.